Judith W. McGuire : Diary of a Southern Refugee during the War, by a Lady of Virginia before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Diary of a Southern Refugee during the War, by a Lady of Virginia:

"War seems inevitable," wrote Judith W. McGuire in her diary on 10 May 1861, shortly after the firing on Fort Sumter. Fervently loyal to the South, she was packing up valuables at her home in Alexandria, Virginia, where the Confederate flag already waved. With her family she fled the city, and for the next four years she would be a refugee in her own land.
