Gail Lumet Buckley, Gen. Charles F. Bolden Jr. : Fighting for Freedom: National Museum of African American History and Culture (Double Exposure) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Fighting for Freedom: National Museum of African American History and Culture (Double Exposure):

This, the fifth volume in the series Double Exposure, presents fifty images of African Americans in uniform, from the Civil War to the War in Iraq. The selection of photographs, which exemplify stories of patriotism, courage, and dignity, are enriched by the unique perspective of Frank Bolden, Jr., 12th Administrator of NASA and Gail Lumet Buckley, author of American Patriots. Photographers include Anthony Barboza, a staff photographer in the U.S. Navy, Henry Clay Anderson who studied photography at Southern University under the G.I. Bill, and Robert Scurlock whose famous photographs of the Tuskegee Airmen still live with us today.

Though only 80 pages long, this wonderful work beams with a racial pride that radiates out well beyond its diminutive dimensions. Publishers Weekly
