

(Mobile book) Honor Without a Stain: The 34th Mississippi Infantry Regiment, 1862-1865

Honor Without a Stain: The 34th Mississippi Infantry Regiment, 1862-1865

David B., Jr. Boone

*ebooks / Download PDF / ePub / DOC / audiobook

HONOR WITHOUT A STAIN

THE 34TH MISSISSIPPI INFANTRY
REGIMENT, 1862-1865

DOWNLOAD

+

READ ONLINE

#6442563 in Books 2002-03Original language:EnglishPDF # 1 8.25 x 5.75 x .75l, .60 #File Name:
1401039782208 pages | File size: 31.Mb

David B., Jr. Boone : Honor Without a Stain: The 34th Mississippi Infantry Regiment, 1862-1865 before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Honor Without a Stain: The 34th Mississippi Infantry Regiment, 1862-1865:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Good History readBy CustomerI learned a lot about what my great grandfather Sgt. James K Bartlett Co H 34th Miss. endured, yesterday I visited Lookout Mountain and photographed his last known whereabouts that morning of Nov 24th 1863 when he was shot and captured, Hurrah for this great story, Highly recommended. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Wrong reference. By Tony Johnson "Honor Without A Stain", is well thought out with a logical flow. I don't know where the author found the birth date, death date and burial location for some of the men on the referenced roster, but that document needs to be corrected. I know for a fact the the information for my great-great-grandfather, George M.D. Street, is wrong. The referenced information in the book is actually that of his cousin George M. Street. The data for the correct George Street who served with the 34th Mississippi Infantry Regiment, is that he was born Feb 25, 1845 in Tippah County, MS and died Aug 9, 1923 in Wapanucka, OK. He enlisted as a Confederate Soldier with the 34th Mississippi Infantry, Company G (Sons of Liberty), together with his father Joseph J. Street, on Mar 17, 1862. George M.D. Street is buried at Rose Hill Cemetery, Wapanucka, Johnston County, Oklahoma. 10 of 11 people found the following review helpful. A regimental history of the 34th Mississippi Infantry By A Customer Honor Without a Stain: The 34th Mississippi Infantry Regiment, 1862-1865 walks in the footsteps of the average North Mississippian from his first engagement at Farmington, Mississippi across the battlefields of Perryville, Chickamauga, Chattanooga, and Atlanta, and into the grand coronation of death at Franklin and Nashville, Tennessee. Included are never before published wartime diary and letter excerpts. Invaluable to genealogists will be the complete roster of the regiment including last known residences for survivors, circa 1907. Honor Without a Stain is required reading for every serious student of the War Between the States. The author's best work yet, Honor Without a Stain is not only a great read, it's brimming with facts and personal anecdotes available in no other generally accessible publication anywhere. This book should be in every library, every school, and every private bookshelf across our country. The true story of the Civil War is here. Read it and you will understand.