Written by a Marine who was on the battlefieldBy Sue RoderickA detailed account of a Marine Veteran of the Korean War who describes the effects of battle on soldiers and the hardships they endured. Describes how a picture of "The Boy Jesus" carried him through numerous battles and throughout his life. A most vivid account of the battles fought and a must read for those who had loved ones in this war and for historians.

A marine's diary of the Korean War and the battle of Chosin Reservoir. A story of courage, strong faith, and determination by a young marine to lead others against incredible odds to become one of the "Chosin Few". A religious picture of the Boy Jesus was found amidst rubble and destruction became a relic that Richard Janca carried with him for life. This is a story of heroism of a young marine who earned the Bronze Star and Purple Heart.

About the AuthorRichard Janca was a Korean War Veteran who survived the battle of "Chosin Reservoir". For his heroism he earned the Bronze Star and Purple Heart. Richard wrote his memoir, with the thought, it would be published after his death. He was a hard working man of strong faith, christian principles, and a loving husband and great father to his five children. He lived for 80 years in the Buffalo, New York area. His story is emotional, intriguing, reflective and inspirational.
